

Relocating a family and a life is not a favorite pastime for most people. Unless you've moved a lot and developed a plan to ease the process, it is a very stressful task.

Over the past few decades, Raben Real Estate in Rapid City has helped hundreds of relocating families to make the moving experience as easy and stress free as possible. We've built a reputation as professional "Service Realtors" and, in addition, have provided extensive assistance to our many customers. Because of the broad experiences and skills we have learned, we've been able to develop the best relocation system in the area. Our company has become a military and civilian relocation expert, and we have everything needed to help you with a smooth geographical transition.

We've been in business (first in lumber and construction and then real estate since 1967) in Rapid City since 1952. The cornerstone of those years' success is a direct result of the quality of services we do provide, and we're convinced that we can help you.
